Greetings Connor Berry,

Your Project Name is: OpenProject. This project is: Open source project management software. The source code for this project is located at <https://github.com/opf/openproject>. Your duties are: Dockering the application and running it on local server (localhost)

Here are the project submission rules and guidelines:

1. Your submission is URL for your Github repository.
2. Your repository should contain screen video recording for the execution of the dockerized application using FilmoraScrn <https://filmora.wondershare.com/>. Refer to this video for more details: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=yjlyvvCOaMc>
3. Your Github repository should contain all the source files you used to implement your project
4. For some of the projects, you may need some javascript knowledge to update the package.json in order to run your application locally.
5. No technical support is provided for this project from the course instructor! It's all your work and your research!

Thanks!
